

Great Lakes Boat Building School

The Great Lakes Boat Building School teaches and inspires students in the art and craft of traditional and contemporary wooden boat building, which prepares them for productive and rewarding careers in the marine trades. We strive to contribute to the growth of each student as a person and as a craftsman to impart an appreciation of the maritime heritage of the Great Lakes and North America.

The Great Lakes Boat Building School, located in the beautiful Les Cheneaux Islands of the Eastern Upper Peninsula of Michigan, offers a highly rated educational program designed to teach quality wooden boat building skills and preserve craftsmanship. The only licensed proprietary school of its kind in the state, GLBBS is housed in a new 12,000 square-foot facility, designed and built specifically for the teaching of woodworking, basic design, traditional and modern boat building, and yacht joinery. Combine this state-of-the-art facility with our seasoned instructors and professional curriculum, and you have the perfect place to learn the art and craft of boat building.

Organization Contact Info:

Main Contact Name	Bud McIntire, Andy James
Address (Street)
Address (City, State, Zip)
Phone Number
Website	http://www.glbbs.org/
Email	bud.mcintire@glbbs.org , woodys3b@gmail.com

Teaching with Small Boats Conference Participant
Mystic Seaport, Connecticut
October 15-18, 2013