

Longship Company, Ltd.

Sailing into History

The Longship Company, Ltd. is a non-profit educational organization, incorporated in Maryland, and devoted to increasing understanding and knowledge of the life, culture, technology, commerce, and exploration of the early northern European seafarers and those with whom they came into contact.

We are an all volunteer organization (-- the "Company" in our name refers to a ship's company of its officers and crew) and we welcome guests and friends for our twice-a-month training voyages.

In addition to the activities of sailing, maintaining, and exhibiting/demonstrating the vessels, the Longship Company participates in living history events, contributes to ongoing international archaeology-by-experiment efforts relative to early seafaring and technology, produces educational materials, and supports artistic and scholarly efforts related to the Vikings and their era. Longship Company members partake of all these activities, or pick and choose among them.
